

Natural Discovery

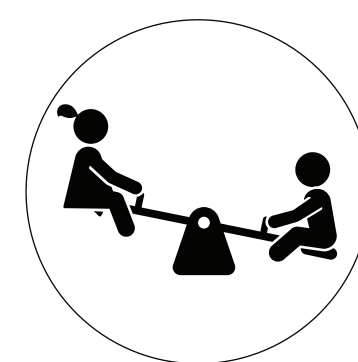

This design divides the playground into multiple areas and provides a variety of options for moving through the space which allows for different discovery journeys. At the centre of the playground is a gathering plaza with a shade structure that looks out on to the water play zone and provides good views of the playground for caregivers supervising children at play. Beyond the plaza is a series of play spaces that are separated into different terraced levels to accommodate various types of play. The style of this design is naturalistic in character.
