

Notice of Completion New Septage Waste Haulage Receiving Station Schedule 'B' Municipal Class Environmental Assessment Study

Project Overview

The City of Hamilton has completed a Schedule 'B' Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (EA) study to determine the preferred location for a new septage waste haulage receiving station (SWHRS). A number of areas were evaluated as part of the study. The preferred site is located on Dartnall Road between Rymal Road East and Twenty Road East as shown on the map below. The new SWHRS will consist of a building housing septage receiving equipment including piped connections for septage haulage trucks, odour control equipment, spill containment area, outdoor water connection, motion activated outdoor lighting, perimeter fencing, 24-hour card access, paved area for truck turnarounds, and an underground sanitary sewer connection.

The Process

This study has been undertaken in accordance with the Municipal Engineers Association, Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (2000, as amended in 2007, 2011 & 2015) process for Schedule 'B' projects. Public Information Centre No. 1 was held on November 9, 2017 and Public Information Centre No. 2 was held on September 19, 2018 to present project information and preliminary recommendations for public, agency, and First Nations review and comment.
